The accused party can reply with a motion for discovery materials, the AS Judicial Board will determine if the materials are relevant, and request them from the complainant or ASUCSD. The accused party may also include their own evidence to be sent to the AS Judicial Board mirroring the Grievance form, known as the Reply Brief. A preliminary injunction should only be requested if the complainant can prove that there is probable cause that the complainant's grievance will be found to be true and that the harm to be incurred if the preliminary injunction is not issued is greater than the harm to be suffered by the accused party if the preliminary injunction is issued.

If the complainant is seeking a preliminary injunction, a request must be submitted in writing to the Clerk at the time of submitting the initial grievance. The Judicial Board Chair and Vice Chair, in consultation with the Clerk and A.S.
